

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Troy Sacco
Regional Sales Office: (888) 226-6552

POPULAR GOLF TOURNAMENT MANAGEMENT WEBSITE GETS FULL REVAMP TO BETTER SERVE TOURNAMENT PLANNERS AND NONPROFITS

Los Angeles, CA (November 2015) – GolfTournamentManagement.com (GTM), an online tournament planning and event-sourcing resource specializing in country club and golf course tournaments and nonprofit fundraising, announces plans to expand its online features over the next few months and improve overall user functionality. The addition of quick access to contact information, new images, and amenities for each listed venue will assist in the online researching process for visitors. The redesign offers tournament planners of all types the convenience of remotely exploring golf courses and country clubs located across the nation, without leaving the comfort of their own homes.

Golf Tournament Management's website current offers advice for novice planners and pro planners alike, and lists more than 45 event venues located throughout the U.S. in premier meeting & vacation destinations, including in northern & southern California, the Pacific Northwest, Georgia, The Gulf Coast, and New York. With the new revamp, the site has added dedicated pages to new Regional Tournament Offices for the following regions: Los Angeles/Long Beach; Northern California; Atlanta; New York/New Jersey; and Texas

Regional Tournament Experts in each of these offices are available to assist tournament organizers during the entire tournament planning process, starting with choosing a tournament venue. Instead of searching through long lists of individual courses, now tournament planners can pick a region, contact that Regional Tournament Office, and get expert help to suggest the best venue for a particular event.

Other features of the new GTM website include:

- An updated Golf Tournament Budget Calculator to help planners visualize the entire planning process and estimate the cost of an event. The calculator offers a step-by-step estimate based on desired date, add-ons, and size.
- A Tournament Planning Blog with in-depth articles offering planning tips & advice from experts, plus resources like a free downloadable tournament planning guide with a detailed to-do checklist.
- A section dedicated to charities and nonprofits, with advice & an invitation to join the Nonprofit Partnership Program, designed to assist nonprofits in need of fundraising.

With the addition of even more information on the venues, as well as improved photo galleries and detailed breakdowns on services, Golf Tournament Management looks to enhance the overall online experience for its visitors.

"We hope that the added features and information will help tournament planners get a better overall feel for the venue and make the entire tournament planning process less stressful," said Troy Sacco, Vice President of Sales at Golf Tournament Management. "We want to make the online tournament planning process an effective and easy one for everyone who visits our website."

For more information, visit www.golftournamentmanagement.com or call (888) 226-6552.

About:

Golf Tournament Management offers first-time tournament planners and pro organizers alike information on great golf tournament venues located throughout the United States. If you're planning a group golf outing or charity fundraiser or company team-building day, we can help. Our Regional Tournament Experts can help make the tournament planning process a stress-free, enjoyable experience. All of the venues we recommend focus on personalized, professional service and have a track record of hosting successful, enjoyable tournaments of all sizes and types. Plus, Golf Tournament Management offers free resources including guides, expert articles, and an online Tournament Budget Calculator to help you plan your next golf event.